WELCOME TO ROWHEATH PAVILION

Part of the Cadbury heritage in leafy Bournville, Birmingham, the Grade 2 listed Pavilion is a unique wedding and wedding party venue. Built in 1924 by the Cadbury family as the centre of the Rowheath sports and leisure complex for their staff, it remains surrounded by parkland and playing fields and overlooks a fishing lake.

Your wedding will be held in our Terrace Room: the original 1920s ballroom and you will enjoy exclusive access to the adjoining patio which overlooks the parkland and fishing lake.

CEREMONIES

Rowheath Pavilion's Terrace Room offers you the opportunity to have a Christian wedding and your wedding reception in the same room, overlooking stunning parkland.

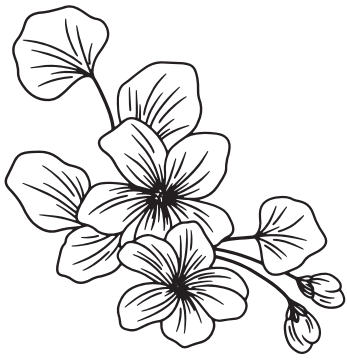

Rowheath Pavilion Church has been at the heart of Rowheath Pavilion for over three decades, and so as a registered Place of Worship, we're able to offer this unique opportunity.

One of the Church's ministry team will help you to plan the details of your ceremony to make it a personal celebration of your relationship, within the Christian and legal framework required for weddings. Our team will help co-ordinate your conversations with the Church team.

Alternatively, the Church may allow your own minister to conduct the ceremony, subject to the Minister's specific consent and legal requirements being met.

Our Wedding & Events Co-ordinator is happy to meet you and your photographer before your day, to point out the best backdrops in the park, and if required to arrange access to the balcony to take shots.

As it is a public park, please be aware that there will be other people using the green space.
